No-Sew Blanket Tutorial

No-Sew blankets make beautiful throw blankets for any room.

You can make large ones for a bed or small ones for a babies room.

They also make great gifts for the entire family!

Whatever the occasion.....where there is fleece, there are blankets to be made!

No-Sew Blanket Tutorial

These blankets are made with Polar fleece that can be found at any fabric store.

And you don't need a sewing machine! They are so easy you can make them in one evening.

If you can cut fabric and tie a knot, you can do this!!!

No-Sew Blanket Tutorial

What You Will Need

1-1/2 yards of two coordinating polar fleece fabrics

SHARP Scissors

Ruler

Cardboard

(Depending on the size you want to make your blanket will depend on how much fleece to get. I found that 1-1/2 yards makes a good sized throw blanket. Feel free to use more or less.)

No-Sew Blanket Tutorial

STEP 1: You will lay out your fleece. I used the floor since I didn't have a table that size. Place the right side of your fleece face down facing the floor then place your coordinating fleece on top with right side facing up.

STEP 2: Measure and cut out a 4x4 square in each corner.

STEP 3: Using very sharp scissors cut strips 1" x 4" all the way around. I found it easier to do one side at a time. After I finished cutting one side I would tie the knots, then go to the next side.

You will just need to find what's easiest for you.

STEP 4: Tie each strip twice to make a knot.

Since I can't draw or cut a straight line I made a template using cardboard 1" x 4". I lined this up where I was suppose to cut and used it as a guide. You can use an index card or cereal box. Just cut it out 1" wide and 4" long.
